Editor's Note

My mom started her own business in 1988 as a CPA. She would always tell me "If you do what you love, you'll never work a day in your life". It took me until 2018 to figure out what it is I love to do. I spent YEARS agonizing over it. I believed what I was called to do, would just wash over me like a sign from God and angels would sing, "You've found your calling!" Dramatic, I know. So I know you are not surprised to here that THAT didn't happen!

WHO YOU WERE MEANT TO BE

Doesn't happen overnight. It takes some soul searching. Forget being a wife. Forget being a mother. Who are YOU meant to be? Put another way, what defines YOU?

The intent of this worksheet is to get you closer to defining your calling.

As moms, it is a constant struggle to balance work and life....and the mom guilt, right?

My hope is that you ask loved ones who know the real you some of these questions and how they perceive you so you realize fully who you are and who you are called to be.

Take particular note of what people REPEATEDLY say about you.

So you're ready to start a business but you're just not sure...well - where to start? This worksheet is intended to getting you closer to establishing to foundation for your future business.

Take the next step...

I hope you thoroughly enjoyed this exercise and have had an opportunity to dig deeper in to who you are and what you are called to do. This worksheet is only the first step in figuring out this whole entrepreneurial thing,

I've been building businesses and business segments within large corporations since 2012.

I've been fortunate to enjoy a lot of success in that time, but it took hard work...and I have had my share of face palm moments along the way.

What if you could DIRECTLY benefit from those years of experience - and avoid those mistakes?

What if you could effortlessly build a business that provides the quality of life that you've dreamed of?

What would it cost you in terms of time with family to not try?
